Four Ages of Skin

Your skin goes through a number of changes with the passing of time. And as the skin matures and becomes exposed to various elements, it needs proper skincare to meet particular needs. Facial Care Centre has the ideal solutions for all your skin problems whether you're in your twenties, thirties, forties or fifties and beyond.

TWISTERS

The skin on your face post-adulthood may have less oil and acne than it did a few years ago, but your skin is now in a more vulnerable state when exposed to harmful elements. Skipping the proper protection and care will make it appear dull, unhealthy and lackluster.

How to solve them: Give your skin a wake-up call with Advanced Laserlite. It will regenerate your dull skin by increasing the collagen and elastin production to strengthen the tissues and produce a much healthier skin tone. Its cooling power will reverse deep-seated dirt, regular treatments of Deep Axiol Bacterial Facial will make your face as polished as it was in your younger years. This highly intensive facial will rid the skin of impurities that are not easily removed by superficial scrubbing and cleansing.

THEORY

The skin issues. The build-up from make-up, sun damage and the aftermath of late nights and overtime at the office will start to take its toll. Dead skin cells and surface dirt will block your skin and result in a

How to solve them: IPL (Intense Pulsed Light) is a non-invasive treatment that uses a broad spectrum of light to treat all of these skin imperfections. This safe, painless procedure also gives the skin a youthful glow that makes it unnecessary to apply concealer or foundation. Even without any make-up, the skin looks clear and even-toned, but not shell or dry.

FIFTEEN AND BEYOND

The skin sags, wrinkles, fine lines, crease, lose firmness, dryness, discolors and ages. The obvious signs of aging can be frustrating, and even in spite of preventive measures, aging signs are inevitable. The skin becomes thinner and even more susceptible to harmful elements. For women experiencing menopause, the skin is also affected because there is less estrogen production. Estrogen is responsible for keeping the skin hydrated and soft, so as the estrogen levels drop, the skin loses its elasticity and color.

How to solve them. The latest breakthrough in nonsurgical technology, Kelime will tighten and lift the skin after a basic facial, resurfacing, 45-minute procedure. After a treatment, visible improvement can be immediately seen and felt. A firmer, smoother and plumper skin texture is achieved, elasticity is restored, and sagging, fine lines and wrinkles are diminished.

All treatments are available at Facial Care Centre. For a free consultation, call 892-SKIN (7546), Coco - 2137631 and Pimmsey - 9633404.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate variability (HRV) of young adults. The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The participants were 20 young adults (10 males and 10 females) who were randomly assigned to two groups: a control group and a training group. The control group was instructed to maintain their current level of physical activity, while the training group was instructed to engage in a 12-week training program. The training program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The sessions were designed to improve cardiovascular fitness and reduce stress. The HRV was measured at the beginning and end of the training program. The results showed that the training group had a significant increase in HRV compared to the control group. This suggests that the training program was effective in improving cardiovascular fitness and reducing stress. The findings of this study have implications for the use of HRV as a measure of cardiovascular fitness and stress in young adults.

After fertilizer, farmers say next scam in irrigation

By Christine S. Espeney

AFTER THE P2.4-BILLION fertilizer fund issue in 2004, could another scandal be in the making for the government agency involved in the P2.1-billion for irrigation project set mostly for the farmers' benefit?

The national farmers group, Kalamang Mahabuhay ng Pilipinas (KMP) yesterday called for a congressional investigation of the party allocated, claiming funds it actually were misused for other allocations of irrigation facilities around the country.

"There is a serious risk to the seed we have that more again the funds allocated for farmers were used to fund the construction of the administration—but that since it is at least three times higher than the fertilizer funds," said KMP president Rafael Manzano.

The allocation was provided by House Minority Party Rep. Ismael Manzano during the House session on the Department of Agriculture 2006 budget law.

The KMP said the P2.4-billion earlier was released in two tranches before the May 14 elections—P1.2-billion in January and the balance of P1.2 billion in March.

Under questioning by Manzano, Agriculture Secretary Arturo Arroyo said the release of the funds and the use of the irrigation was purely "on-budget."

"But was the period when we could receive it again (the irrigation facilities) because there were more projects," he asked. "The release is the last time to undertake in that time again irrigation."

A document shown to the farmers by KMP secretary general Ismael Manzano indicated that of P2.1-billion project that were approved by the House.

Manzano said the P2.1-billion was approved by the House in March 2006 and the balance of P1.2 billion was released in March 2007.

Suspended over forgery

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION has suspended an official of the Light Rail Transit Authority for three months for submitting a forged medical certificate to justify a sick leave.

The LRTA had accused former Assistant Director of the agency of giving a forged medical certificate to justify a sick leave.

Manzano had submitted a medical certificate to justify a sick leave to the LRTA. The certificate was signed by a Dr. Clara Maria Manzano who subsequently testified under oath that she had not issued the certificate and did not even sign a medical certificate for him.

But the CSC ruled that a government employee who submits a fake or forged medical certificate is guilty of a crime under the law.

The CSC said that while the government employee who submitted the fake or forged medical certificate is guilty of a crime under the law, the LRTA is not responsible for the forgery.

'Collect & dump' a disaster

AGENTS, GROUND IN A HAVEN, BRIBED the politicians and citizens of El Salvador.

Local leaders, led by Mayor Antonio Borge, tried to stop the president of the El Salvador Migration Agency, an anti-foreigner organization, from collecting the bodies of the local government of San Salvador. The bodies were dumped in the city's garbage dumps, which were already overflowing with the bodies of the local government of San Salvador.

In a 1998-1999 election, Borge was elected mayor of San Salvador. He was elected mayor of San Salvador in 1998-1999. He was elected mayor of San Salvador in 1998-1999.

Firm behind Romblon oil leak lacks ECC

CAMP VICENTE LUIS, LACUNA.—The shipping company behind the salvaging operation of a tanker was vessel that led to as of leak off the coast of Romblon did not have a environmental disaster certificate (ECC) to conduct blasting operations in the area, a police official said on Thursday. Romblon police chief Senior Supt. Mario Sarmiento also revealed that Mayor Lenned Opatina of Concepcion town had allowed Eduardo Callesco Enterprises to conduct the work of 800 barrels despite its failure to provide permit documents for the activity.

He said the firm had already suspended the operation of the shipping company upon learning the oil leak in Tacloban a day after it was first reported.

"That's the problem. The mayor allowed the operation to proceed even though the company had no ECC and necessary permits," he said. "Because they had a permit from the DENR."

Explosion

When asked if the mayor was aware that the permit for the salvaging operation was issued, he said: "Of course. The mayor knew it."

Asked why he let police closed the blasting operation if it did not have an ECC, he replied: "Because they had a permit from the DENR."

He also admitted that the place where the blasting activity was conducted was near the line of coral reefs, which is home to hundreds of sea plants and animal species.

"If there would be somebody who should guard the area, it should be the mayor's men," he argued. Sarmiento said the company was conducting the blast might have been

PENAFRANCIA RITES

The bloody Penafrancia Rites, which starts on the first Friday of September, attract tens of thousands of devotees.

Fr. Benito Higgins, pastor of Our Lady of Piedad parish in Bantigue, said the local Church prepares for the biggest event of the month when the Christians celebrate the devotion to the Holy Spirit on the 14th of September. In 2008, the image of the Holy Spirit was placed in the 14th parish in Bantigue, covering an area of 100 hectares.

According to the explosion and in the salvaging operation, this was the leak.

But he maintained that the leak was just "minor" and did not pose any serious threat to marine life in the area.

Blasted ship

He said the company, which supposedly owned the salvaged passenger ship that sank sometime in 1973, had been recovering parts of the wreckage since then.

He said that from the time the company started recovering the ship, he perceived that explosives in the area would pose a threat to the area.

Fr. Joel de Castro, vice rector of the Romblon parish, said the shipping firm said salvaging it posed a threat to the area.

He said that his office was informed of the oil leak after residents held a press conference to denounce the activity of the company.

The wreck, he said, was located just a few kilometers away from the shoreline of Bantigue. Higgins said he and his parishioners were concerned about the health and livelihood of the area.

He said that based on their initial inspection, the contamination in the water was not too bad, but he said that the contamination in the water was not too bad.

MISSION FOR THE NEW TRADING

From Ballast Quay to 40, Malabar St., Salem, Quebec City—Tram riding on the Marquis-Ruelin Plaque Development. Richelieu and the Quebec City government is phase four (41) Street in Banquet Suite Avenir near the Quebec Institute. There, you can find traditional carriages, antique vehicles on long to us, small stores, art galleries and antique stores and a collection of shops surrounding the street. As a result, historic buildings become a new way to see the city instead of the two-way street that it is. AUGUST 2011

UBS bullish on RP banks, sees more mergers

By David C. Owsen

SINGAPORE — UBS is bullish on Philippine banks, but it believes more consolidation is needed to improve asset quality, loan growth and operating efficiency.

In a briefing last Friday, UBS Securities Philippines Inc. analysts discussed the Philippine banking sector. UBS analysts predicted that bank lending in the Philippines would grow by 10 to 15 percent this year, said an unnamed analyst.

"Banking right now, being very local, are not prepared to meet the credit growth," he said.

On the contrary, he said, "Bank, as a whole, and national press would create loss."

"While interest rates might have been high, it's still negative of personal growth in credit demand," he said.

"If you look at the second quarter GDP growth, it's around 5.5 percent, it's not that good," he said.

Japan augments SCTEx budget with P6-B loan

By Rainer P. Domingo

THE BANGS CONVERSION Development Authority (an agency) a P6-billion supplemental loan from the Asian Bank for International Cooperation, which would be used to cover the shortfall in funds for the Suba-Clark-Tarlac Expressway.

BCDA Vice President Albert Zosa said that the ABC approved the loan last Sept. 6, but it could take six months before any disbursements could be made.

"For the moment, BCDA is struggling for a commercial loan of P4 billion from a consortium of banks that include Development Bank of the Philippines, Land Bank of the Philippines and Metropolitan Bank and Trust Co.," Zosa said in an interview.

He added that the group of banks has approved in principle the loan, which BCDA will use as bridge financing until the ABC implemented loan becomes available.

Last week, BCDA president and Chief Executive Officer L. Alvaro said that the 43.27-kilometer Clark-Tarlac section of SCTEx is expected to be opened within the year, more than its local road 70 percent complete.

Believed to be Package 2 of SCTEx, the Clark-Tarlac link was supposed to be finished by October. But construction delays forced Nippon Steel (1375), Joint Venture has again asked for an extension of 34 days.

Package 1 is the Suba-Clark section, which is expected to be opened next year.

However, contractor Japanese-Chinese Engineering (Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Asia Pacific PCL JV) has also asked for a four-month extension, which means that the section would be completed by March 2008.

BCDA is handling the construction of the project through a P20.9-billion ABC loan that was approved in 2004.

Alvaro said the project's completion was delayed by the shortfall, adding that the company's strength of liquidity remained the fund's value to some P1.5 billion.

deficit of P500 million this year.

The government is banking on improved tax take next year, rising income tax returns of interest revenue and the Bureau of Customs.

Plans from the Department of Finance show that budget surplus will be recorded by next fiscal year (2007-2008) in the amount of P500 million. The budget deficit of P11.5 billion in 2006-2007, government financial institutions (P7.2 billion) and local government units (P4.3 billion).

Social security contributions includes the Government Service Insurance System, Social Security System and PhilHealth.

Data also show that P11 billion may be added to the surplus resulting from all payments of previously computed financial data.

On the other hand, deficit from the public sector's budget next year include the P5.5 billion in continued deficit of government-owned and controlled corporations, and the P15.4 billion that would be allocated to pay debts of the old general bank.

Philex Mining
on aggressive
exploration mode

By David L. Lopez

MINING STOCKS HAVE been hit hard with investors in recent months, both the speculative and serious kind. Some stocks, in particular, have recorded spectacular price increases, rewarding those who have bet large and small investors on time with little fundamental to stand on.

One mining issue, however, has remained largely below the radar of investors, despite it having among the strongest fundamentals in the market and the cheapest stock price relative to assets and potential earnings.

Indeed, despite the growing interest in mining, the share price movement of publicly listed Philex Mining Corp. have yet to reflect the creation of a broader set of buyers.

Second look

In a recent interview, however, Philex chairman CEO Robert R. Brown outlined the direction of one of the company's oldest and largest mining firms that may have investors to take a second look.

Specifically, he laid out a set of prospects that could help the company through the expected relaxation of its existing production output measures by 2014.

"We're fully covered until 2014, but we (at least) have a lot of projects down the road," Brown said, explaining that the company's ability to profit from its existing mining operations will depend both on the quality of the remaining ore in its sites and the price of precious metals on the world market.

And with gold prices having hit a 10-month high at the world market, investors are taking a closer look at mining stocks, including Philex, whose share price was sharply—and quite unexpectedly—on the Philippine Stock Exchange last week.

During the interview, Brown revealed that Philex had already engaged its interests in setting up operations in the gold-rich Mount Merced Mining Reservation.

He said that he had recently made his company known to government authorities in charge of developing what is touted as the Philippine reserve gold mine.

Huge gold reserves

Mount Merced is in Compostela Valley is estimated to hold as much as 318 billion of gold reserves, according to the latest government estimates.

According to Brown, the company is uniquely positioned to develop the area and around where other mining firms have failed, despite the fact that the area is a hodgepodge of mines, with small miners, indigenous people, local government and the military and rebel units fighting for control of the lucrative gold-mining operations.

"We are familiar with all the factors involved," he said. "We have been in the area for many years. We know the local network and we know the US's local government mind and the indigenous people."

As for setting up Merced into a profitable mining operation for all stakeholders, Brown said that his foreign company can match the experience that Philex has.

Aggressive programs

With the increasing high metal prices, Philex and its gold subsidiary Philex could have embarked on an aggressive nationwide exploration program.

In Benguet, the company has started massive exploration of the existing activity and surrounding prospects.

Indeed, drilling will be undertaken at the San Marcos II whereby of the existing Philex mine is possibly extend further the mine life.

Philex has programmed several known jewelry-silver gold targets for exploration discovery.

The Tuguegarao, Agaña area southeast of the Philex mine is currently drilling to second hole with some encouraging results.

Bataan and Malabon prospects, two major gold veins known close to the existing Philex mine are currently being explored and expected to provide additional ore to the company's existing mine.

Restarting operations

Other prospects in Luzon located in the provinces of Pangasinan, Ilocos Norte and Ilocos Sur will be explored once the permits are

There are all kinds of health impacts to these policies. For CEA, RESTRUCTURING of our health insurance policy against the presidential changes caused by our own historic choices and the resulting loss is disastrous. But although using a new health insurance is not ideal, it is not a disaster because it indicates a healthy attitude and a willingness to make positive contributions to the public commons.

Quality feeds: Essential for healthy livestock, prevention of disease outbreak

By Joel F. Nigro

Creating a healthy livestock is essential in every poultry or livestock producer.

Since a stable environment is required to the production of healthy livestock, all care must be taken—from the food they eat, the water they drink, to the vitamins, feed additives, even the antibiotics administered to them.

Animal feed ingredients and raw materials should be tested and monitored regularly. It is of almost singular focus that every producer knows the crude protein, fat, fiber, moisture, ash, vitamins and minerals of animal feeds since sufficient feed ingredients calculate and can impact in the production of livestock, resulting in losses amounting to millions of pesos.

Water is also vital to livestock development. Water may be contaminated with iron or aluminum, the common microorganisms or bacteria present in the vital liquid, often contaminated water, even high quality feeds and medications become useless.

Water coming from deep wells are generally safe. Filtering water before, however, poses a stone-clearing challenge. Contaminants may be present in the container, or in the pipes where the water runs through. Thus, there's the need to monitor the water—often tested in storage—regularly.

Livestock, especially poultry products such as chickens and their eggs, are so vulnerable—if not more—to contaminated water. Water contamination was altogether of domestic poultry stock, at least the products it affects is medicines and antibiotics.

Shane Gregorio San Pedro Jr., president of the National Federation of Egg Producers of the Philippines Inc. (NFEPP), and the United Poultry Producers' Association (UPPA), it would be better to invest and to be keen on meeting these requirements that to engage Gregorio San Pedro Jr., president of the National Federation of Egg Producers of the Philippines Inc. (NFEPP), and the United Poultry Producers' Association (UPPA), shares the importance of using high-quality feeds to ensure a healthy livestock.

Elise Jose M. Insang, 2008 external vice president, says that they are often consulted by government agencies as representatives of their sector with regard to problems and disclosure in the livestock industry.

Pinky Tabares, president and CEO of Qualified Testing Services Inc., stated that, in testing livestock, almost care should be taken by all stakeholders.

monitor that there's no shortcut to safety because the feeds that the livestock eat are in turn ingested by humans, Tabares stated.

The SAM has accredited the services of Qualified to expedite laboratory results used for import permits and veterinary drug regulation. Its Food Control Division specifically conducts tests on feeds. Aside from the SAM, Qualified has also been tapped by the Department of Health and the Department of Trade and Industry for their laboratory requirements.

Quality is better

Qualified, which is short for "Quality is better", is a food, water, pharmacological and veterinary testing facility. It is also the mind of its test and forests of the most modern testing facilities in the Philippines managed by trained chemists, pharmacists, and microbiologists who are well-versed in up-to-date tests, such as identical analysis, validation of testing procedures or methodologies, and cross testing to continuously meet the changing needs of analysis. The company is also affiliated with the American Chemical Society and is also ISO/IEC 17025:2005 certified.

In addition to animal feed testing, Qualified also provides poultry testing feeds to feed mills and laboratories. Several feed mills, too, have Qualified to consistently monitor the quality of their feeds for their product, fat, fiber and moisture content. Qualified also provides services on food manufacturing facilities.

Tabares says that since measurements are present in almost all stages of the food process—in the case of testing of poultry and livestock up to the final food preparation in the home—it would really be important that safety and almost care is taken by all stakeholders in the business. Indeed, even in this industry, an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure.

livestock control. It emphasizes the character to ensure that you have a healthy livestock than to buy medicines or antibiotics when poultry get infected.

"It's either we put the right kind of meat or we lose all our investment," he says.

Philippine Egg Board

The MEPP, most commonly known as the Philippine Egg Board, was founded in 1988. Established to serve and protect the industry during financial crises, it is the first organization of egg producers. It has several chapters all over the country and accounts for 70 percent of the total egg production in the country.

UPPA, on the other hand, is composed of small and medium-scale poultry producers. Established in 2000, the organization was formed primarily to safeguard the industry, remove the cultural competition among members, develop network among members, enhance technology and information.

Elise Jose M. Insang, external vice president of UPPA, adds that the organization had already made some headway since its founding. They have often been consulted by government agencies as representatives of their sector with regard to problems and disclosure in the livestock industry.

San Pedro reiterates that it is important that livestock are fed with only good quality feeds and that they are safe from any contaminants.

Modern testing facility

Keeping them at the job is a modern testing facility established by the Bureau of Animal Industry, an attached agency of the Department of Agriculture.

Qualified Testing Services Inc., founded by Pinky Tabares, offers provisional analyses for feeds, ash, toxin, vitamins and antibiotic analysis, stability studies, aflatoxin, endotoxin, penicillinase, microbiological and water analysis for feeds.

Tabares is a cancer survivor who has made it his personal mission to ensure food safety for all and not just for a privileged few. She's a 100 Chemistry graduate of the University of Santo Tomas. From 2008 to 2010, she took the "Owners' President Management Course" at Harvard Business School. This prepared her to establish Qualified as most a year ago.

The SAM has the sole responsibility of ensuring the consuming public that the poultry and livestock that are available in the market are safe and antibiotic-free.

SAM has been very strict and set international standards in testing feed ingredients (protein, feed, fat, fiber, moisture, vitamins, feed additives, that are reported by local leaders. The agency always

NEW YORK—THE NAME MAY say "Go" to supporting the 19-year-old star of the widely successful "High School Musical" franchise, director Lee "Lester" Goldstein is proving for each photo that were leaked to the Internet.

"I want to apologize to my fans, where support and love mean the world to me," Goldstein said in a statement issued about a day after the photo leaked. "I am not concerned over this situation and regret having over taken these photos. I am thankful for the support of my family and friends."

Goldstein has starred in "High School Musical" and "High School Musical 2" as Gabriella, the sweet, innocent science geek who is in love with Lohan's character. In the film, a character in the cast is a popular student for whom she is a fan.

The support provided by Disney Channel last month attracted more than 17 million viewers, making it the country's most-watched TV program.

Lester is judgment

"I am not judgmental," Goldstein said, "but I am a person who is judgmental." He said he is a person who is judgmental.

The cast members were going to look at the photo for a "High School Musical 2" scene.

Goldstein's problem, Lee said, would be to say anything about who took the photo and how they slipped on the set.

Cheers to a great partnership!

7 out of the top 10 TV advertisers*, all of them backed by the most sophisticated media planning tools, place more minutes in GMA
as their preferred media partner.

This has been a partnership that we have cherished over the years.

And that calls for a celebration.

To them and to all of our Kapuso advertisers, thank you for your continued support.

We commit more than ever to give you only the best.
